

Foundations

Until I Wake

You didn't think I would find out, but it's written on your face
Casting stones from a glass house, and it's about to break
I've got you right where I want now, and you've got nothing left to say
Why don't you shut your fucking mouth

You're done now
Your words are poison to me
Just get out
Save the apology

It's time I recuse myself from this
There's no foundation to build where trust has never existed and never will

Who do you think you are?
You're fooling everyone, but not me

Oh how the tides have turned
Your last mistake, another bridge you've burned
You've sealed your fate
One strike is all it takes
My first mistake is that I trust a snake

It's time I recuse myself from this
There's no foundation to build where trust has never existed and never will

Should I forgive you? I guess
Could I forgive you? I guess

I've tried to put my faith in you way too many times
I tear myself apart for you, while you get by with another excuse
Another lie
So it's time I recuse myself from this
There's no foundation to build where trust has never existed, it never will

I forgive you
But I'll never forget