

Out In The Graveyard

Unto Others

Come on in and hear my story
Alone I was walking I was walking at night
I saw an old man
Alone and he gave me a fright
He said
Young boy would you believe
Do you trust in me that the dead can breathe
I turned to run away
He gripped me cold as death as he said

Out in the graveyard, the dead can dance
They'll shake their aching bones, if you give em' a chance
You may remember me, I used to be just like you
And with a little time you'll die like me you'll dance just like me too

On the following morning
A dream I was certain of this, but there was something amiss
I was in the cemetery
Caught in some sinister business and
I walked around a while and it froze my heart in the stones I saw
"In loving memory"
It couldn't be that's
My name

Time ticks away
And I wonder will the sun rise today
I don't believe
But don't cry for me
I will see you in the end
I will be with you again

...and you
You sing this song you'll sing til' morning
You and you
The carnivals in Satan's garden
You and you
Forsaken of all the singers own end
Nightfall, nightfall
Night you fall it's six feet under
