

I'm like the ghost that haunts you in your dreams
But your nightmare's my reality
And you can't make me disappear
'Cause Halloween comes once a year
(Year, year, year, year)

Dress up, dress up
And be the person you could never become
'Cause I know you like that
Backhand combat
Spreading shit fast, but honestly
I'm so tired of always hearing
That my mistakes keep reappearing

If you really want a scary story
Why don't you look in the mirror for me?
Just rip your mask off so they can see
The monster that lives underneath

I'm like the ghost that haunts you in your dreams
But your nightmare's my reality
And you can't make me disappear
'Cause Halloween comes once a year (A year, a year)
Halloween comes once a year (A year, a year)

You cut me from my vine
Maybe it's worth my time, to rewind
And get another disguise for myself
Was it fun? Your witch hunt?
I hope it's worth all the madness you've begun

I'm like the ghost that haunts you in your dreams
But your nightmare's my reality
Scared to look into your mirror
'Cause you like that I'm your biggest fear

Carve me up, and then put me out
Show off and, forget me now
Carve me up, and then put me out
Carve me up
(I'm like the ghost that haunts you in your dreams
But your nightmare's my reality)

I'm like the ghost that haunts you in your dreams
But your nightmare's my reality
And you can't make me disappear
'Cause Halloween comes once a year

Scared to look into your mirror
'Cause you like that I'm your biggest...
(Carve me up)