

Games

UPSAHL

Playing games until pieces run out, driving in circles all night

Around the block that resembles our city lights
One hundred painting without reasoning
One thousand thought that's what this could all mean
Day by day, night by night we're getting by

This has been pushing into the edge of a sanity
A light bright calm sweet sanity
To the breaking point where this song slows down

Holding hands with the enemy
Watching the strangers pass by
Carring stories that disguise extraordinary lives

This has been pushing into the edge of a sanity
A light bright calm sweet sanity
To the breaking point where this song slows down
Deciding who you cool kids are
When you're feeling like playing games
With the ones you used to hide your pain
Until the breaking point where this song slows down?

Oh they're losing their minds
Oh they're chasing lost time
Oh we're laughing out loud
Hanging on by a thread, envisioning innocence
We're playing along, but how?