I don't know about fate
But I've got no choice
But to accept its existence now

Am I really good enough like this?
Hey, am I good enough?
I don't want you to get my hopes up too much

This very day's without lies and falsehoods
It's an ideal day for an eternal oath
I don't need pretty flowers or witnesses
Let's wear rings with the same colors

I can't help but be annoyed
It's so lame, but I wanna sleep
Clinging to you every day

I won't make promises any more
Those are for making others happy

What I say now isn't second-hand
It's not a promise, but an oath
I can't return to when I was a liar
Let's go with rings with colors of the morning sun

Let's dance, our heartbeats becoming one
Let's celebrate being alive in this moment

At times I can't hold back my tears
But there's no deep meaning or anything special in them
It's just that suddenly I recall the past (aah, I wanna cry)
Light flows in from the opened door
I want to stay by your side forever after this too
There's been no other choice for me since long ago

This very day's without past or precedence
It's an ideal day for our oath
I don't need pretty flowers or witnesses
Let's wear rings with the same colors

Kiss me once, kiss me twice
Just once isn't enough
Kiss me once, kiss me twice
Please give me you

Kiss me once, kiss me twice
Kiss me three times
Please
Kiss me once, kiss me twice
Please give me you

Let's listen to the sound of the rising sun, shoulder-to-shoulder
Let's make an oath to live together
