

Actors

Vacations

What an odd delight
To place yourself away
So far from what you know
Could you pinpoint which way to go?
I'll take it one step at a time
Over this great unknown

It's so strange to even be here
To be anything at all
Do you think it'll change on the other side?
To be anything at all

So bruised and tired
Days clash into each other
Rearrange your own colours
Sing and dance as required
This decor feels familiar
Maybe you're just an actor

It's so strange to even be here
To be anything at all
Do you think it'll change on the other side?
To be anything at all

To be anything at all
To be anything at all
To be anything at all
To be anything at all