At the edge of time In the boundless universe A fire is burning It will swallow you Come to me, an inner voice The veiw of an angel looking in the distance You have seen it The alchemy of the divine habits on the humanity Dark deeds, circling around you At the end of the time The sun will refuse to shine At the end of all time The stars will never shine again Burning witches Sisters of the darkness Where the doub is reigning Wickedness against pardon Good-nature for false wisdom Sisters in a dance, lost in eternity Sunk down into chaos The people entangled, defended And thirsty counties The dead at the front-line Antiphagy of the few Our doubt for tomorrow The sun, refuse to shine The stars, defrosting the august Doubt will banish yourself into eternity Greed will blind you The unscrupelous, going to the End with sword and fire All fates, ignoring you All fates, killing you And your never-ending pain The sun, refuse to shine The stars, defrosting the august All fates, ignoring you All fates, killing you