

Hymn

Van Canto

From the waters and the across blue seas
From the west into eternity
From the waters far beyond.
It was once told we'll be back again
It's the westwinds that will spell our name
And as one of four we shall remain.

From the fires and into the flames
From the south into a land they tamed
From the fires far beyond.
It was one told we'll be back again
It's the southwinds that announce our name
And as one of four we shall remain.

From the heavens and through stormy skies
From the east and over mountains high
From the heavens far beyond.
It was once told we'll be back again
It's the eastwinds that will yell our name
And as one of four we shall remain.

From the earth and over valleys green from the north into a land so free from the earth so far beyond.
It was once told we'll be back again
It's the northwinds that will call our name
And as one of four we shall remain.

Forever we shall remain.
