

Neverland

Van Canto

I will come to rest now
Wandered five hundred miles
There's no need to look back now
I wondered five hundred times
Have to gather my strength now
At the end of this road
I am tattered and torn

I pay tribute to transience
Time has taken its toll
Still I don't feel repentant
Nor rueful after all
Have to put doubts aside now
When a new day awakes
I'll be striving for more

The rise, the fall, the meaning of all
In certainty all things will come to an end
I amend

In search for my neverland through the fallen skies
I'm not asking why, all the time I spent passed by
Still in search for my neverland and the sense behind
I will always try, this will never end, my neverland and I

I see countless commandments
Expectations and rules
Still my life's what I make it
I am nobody's fool
I am freed and uncaged now
Every night to arise
Holds a morning inside

The rise, the fall, the meaning of all
In certainty all things will come to an end
I amend

In search for my neverland through the fallen skies
I'm not asking why, all the time I spent passed by
Still in search for my neverland and the sense behind
I will always try, this will never end, my neverland and I

Whoa-oh-oh
Whoa-oh-oh
Yeah!
Oh-oh!
Oh-oh!
Oh-oh!
Yeah!
Oh!

The rise, the fall, the meaning of all
In certainty all things will come to an end
I amend

In search for my neverland through the fallen skies
I'm not asking why, all the time I spent passed by

Still in search for my neverland and the sense behind
I will always try, this will never end, my neverland and I

In search for my neverland through the fallen skies
I'm not asking why, all the time I spent passed by
Still in search for my neverland and the sense behind
I will always try, this will never end, my neverland and I