

Haven't Lost My Sense Of Wonder

Van Morrison

Haven't lost my sense of wonder
Even though things don't seem to be working out
Haven't lost my sense of wonder
Even though there's so much doubt
But when the feeling hits you
Baby, that's where it's all about

Haven't lost my sense of wonder
Just trying to find my way back home
Back to the green fields of summer
See where I'm coming from
Had my fill 'cause I've been through the mill
Now I'm singing, peace be still (peace be still)

Not gonna give in to the feelings of despair or doom
I'm not gonna tear up my head
And I'm not gonna (not gonna)
Not gonna change my tune (change my tune)

Haven't lost my sense of wonder
I just need to find my way back home
Back to the green fields of summer
See where I'm coming from
'Cause I've had my fill (had my fill), been through the mill
Now I'm singing, peace be still, peace be still

Not gonna give in to the feelings of despair or doom
Not gonna stay and tear up my head
And I'm not gonna (not gonna)
Not gonna change my tune (change my tune)

Haven't lost my sense of wonder (sense of wonder)
Just trying to find my way back home (way back home)
Back to the green fields of summer (fields of summer)
See where I'm coming from (coming from)
'Cause I've had my fill (had my fill), I've been through the mill
Now I'm singing, peace be still (peace be still)

And the golden value of time, tryin' to get back
Get back my peace of mind (peace of mind)
With all the negativity we had
Take my hand, tryin' to do the best I can (the best I can)
Got to go someplace where they understand (understand)
Got to do God's plan (God's plan)
The best I can across this land (across this land)

'Cause I've been through the mill (through the mill)
Been through the mill
Now I'm singing, peace be still (peace be still)
'Cause I've had my fill (had my fill), I have been through the mill
Now I'm singing, peace be still (peace be still)

I've had my fill (had my fill), I've been through the mill
I'm singing, peace be still, peace be still
I've had my fill (had my fill), I've been through the mill
I'm singing, peace be still, peace be still