

Phoenix

Vanden Plas

All the king's horses are coming down to leave the empire
And something was sent to protect us now, reborn by the fire
And when the ashes falling on a December morning
Let the sunlight rise again

When the phoenix going to rise and the sunlight shines again, let a freedom cross these minds (Fly to the sun)
When the phoenix going to rise
and the sunlight shines again

This was in 639, December the 7th
The end for the "kingdom of a thousand years" was sent out from heaven
There are too many souls who had lost their way and many too many are passing by When we're looking into the darkest of all nights
There is something every time
But nothing will restrain a tiny light from shining

And when the ashes falling
on a December morning
Let the sunlight rise again