

Driftless

Vansire

There is a street lamp
Twenty feet outside
From where I sit in bed
Waiting out the night

Left your keys on the table
It's clear we've no need to drive
It's you and I floating through space
Fates intertwined

And as the snow fell
While the cars passed by
The window was obscured
Frost blocked the light

I've not changed I've merely stayed the same
I've been dreaming so it seems less strange

I've not changed I've merely stayed the same
I've been dreaming so it seems less strange

I'm unsure if I will ever be
Sure of who I am before I leave
Maybe check back in awhile with me
I'm just trying to feel ok

I'm unsure if I will ever be
Sure of who I am before I leave
Maybe check back in awhile with me
I'm just trying to feel ok

I'm unsure if I will ever be
Sure of who I am before I leave
Maybe check back in awhile with me
I'm just trying to feel ok
