

Deceive

Varials

I can't get a hold of myself
I think I'm wearing thin
You fucking disgust me
In every way possible
I will end this now
Walking around
Like you know everything
Well let me tell you something
You are already dead
Pacing back and forth
Thinking of the worst ways
To torture you
For all of this pain, you left me with
And now the blood is on my hands
When I said I believed you
I was only lying through my teeth
I have been sent here to destroy all you know and love
You thought this was a fucking game so now you pay the price
If you were as real as you said you were
You would have stabbed me in the front, you coward
I have been waiting for this, I've longed for the closure
You think you're so perfect and flawless
It's time you wise up cause this is reality
I would give anything to see you suffer
You worthless, spineless, waste of human life
