Trawlerman's Song

Vashti Bunyan

I love coming home from far across the sea I pick my little wee wifey up and set her on my knee
See how my eldest boy has grown whilst I've been away
See here's a boat I've whittled for thee, especially for thee I've thought of you everyday

I love coming home from far across the sea
And taking up my walking cane and passing through the trees.
I wander on the hillside,
the doggie at my heel,
The bracken waves a welcome to me
'where have you been we've missed you a great deal'

I love coming home from far across the sea I pick my little wee wifey up and set her on my knee
