

Dilutions that keep me awake
Cold heart and the beat makes me freak
You created me to believe
That the world was a fucked up disease
Broke down in a shallow sound
Don't worry I'll turn this shit around
Wake up get the engine running
Hit the gas, give 'em no warning

You built this glorifying character
Beloved king and disparager
By all means take me as you please
To appease you must simply dream

Oh god it's breathing
Even the common sense is leaving
You don't care you just want the attention
A living extension of your own pretension
Found you're heaven
You're heavens a lie
Look through the glass eye
What can you describe

You build this glorifying character
Beloved king and disparager
By all means take me as you please
To appease, you must simply

Dream
Dream
Dream
Dream
Dream
Dream
Dream

Like a plague of the human mind
It's infecting from the inside
No one knows what tomorrow brings
In this paranoid insanity
I have a question for the bastard
Generational hazard
Tell me is this liquid pain that you're selling to us publicly
