

Fading Away

VENUES

Everything you used to do
And everything you knew was true
Is fading away, is fading, is fading
Fading away

It feels like I finally learn
This is a table that will never turn
But here is where the story begins
Please let go this anchor before it sinks
No, I can't stand their presence tonight
Sitting next to them requires a liar
In this room the words are shameless

'Cause everything you used to do
And everything you knew was true
Is fading, is fading, is fading
Fading away

'Cause everything you used to do
Everything you knew was true
Falls apart the moment we arise
Let go of this cocoon

Lay down this mask with a broken smile
Hearing their voices: "This is not worthwhile"
But here is where the story begins
Please let go this anchor before it sinks
No, I can't stand their presence tonight
Sitting next to them requires a liar
In this room the words are shameless

Everything you used to do
Everything you knew was true
Is fading, is fading, is fading
Fading away

'Cause everything you used to do
Everything you knew was true
Falls apart the moment we arise
Let go of this cocoon

Now let it die, die out inside you
Yeah, let it die, don't hold your breath
Don't hold your breath
This is not a goodbye, this is a metamorphose
This is leaving your skin, this is spreading your wings
Make your move, take your time
Go raise hell, let them lose
And you better never come back
Better never come back
Better never come back
Better never come back
Never come back

'Cause everything you used to do
And everything you knew was true
Is fading, is fading, is fading

Fading away

'Cause everything you used to do
Everything you knew was true
Falls apart the moment we arise
Let go of this cocoon