

Shades Of Memory

VENUES

You said your thoughts are my reflection
Waking me up again
So close but still so far away
These miles are hunting me
It feels like forever
These words are leading me
It feels like forever
Since your words ran through my heart

I'll find my way back home
Along these lonely and fading paths
This journey was meant for me
And I will grow with every single mile

Your scent left on my skin
I'm covered in your sin
So save me, save me a place in your soul

You said your hopes are my confession
Waking me up again
So strong but still so fragile
Your words are leading me
It feels like forever
These miles are hunting me
It feels like forever
Since your words ran through my heart

I'll find my way back home
Along these lonely and fading paths
This journey was meant for me
And I will grow with every single mile

Your scent left on my skin
I'm covered in your sin
So save me, save me a place in your soul

You said your hopes are my confession
You said your hopes are my confession

This long and winding road
Got me on my knees
Too late to trace my steps back
And no one said a word about being alone
Wandering for so long
It's a burden I have to carry
That makes me stronger than ever

I'll find my way back home
Along these lonely and fading paths
This journey was meant for me
And I will grow with every single mile

Your scent left on my skin
I'm covered in your sin
So save me, save me a place in your soul

Your scent left on my skin

I'm covered in your sin
So save me, save me a place in your soul