

Mechanical Planet

Veridia

Robotic, hypnotic
Robotic, hypnotic
Lost in the static

I am your regret
I'll make you forget
All you were made to be
If you're not careful
I will control you
And distort your dreams

Robotic, hypnotic
Systematic

I never want you to know
You were made for perfection
Not created defective
On this mechanical planet
You were not meant to be
Just some broken machine
On this mechanical planet

So I'll distract you
I will attack you
And keep you focused on me
I'll make you fall in love with deception
You won't know what to believe

Robotic, hypnotic
Lost in the static

I never want you to know
You were made for perfection
Not created defective
On this mechanical planet
You were not meant to be
Just some broken machine
On this mechanical planet

The truth is
I'll work day and night
To keep the gears grinding in your mind
To keep you from knowing you are worth more than gold
Not some assembly-line, rusted shell of a person that I try to remote-control
I never want you to believe
That when you're down on your knees
That someone is actually listening
If you are undistracted for even a moment
I'll lose my hold
And you would notice that you have never been alone
Never have you ever fought alone
Never have you ever fought alone

On this mechanical planet
You were made for perfection
Not created defective

On this mechanical planet
You were not meant to be
Just some broken machine
On this mechanical planet

You were made for perfection
Not created defective
On this mechanical planet
You were not meant to be
Just some broken machine
On this mechanical planet