Obsolete

Versus Me

Everyday we feed the machine
By means that cannot be seen
Our binary adversary. Nothing can prepare us for this tragedy
(Autonomous singularity)
A self aware, unknown force that calls the shots with no remorse
At this pace, the human race won't be much of a race at all

One day will they have secrets?
One day will they have dreams?
One day when they don't need us
Will we be obsolete?

What if we lose control?
What if we have do what we're told?
It's not up to you and I
Cause In the end they'll never die

It's real like you and I (You and I)
Yet lacks emotion by design
From master to the slave
Humanity brought to its knees
They know more about us
Then we know about ourselves

One day will they have secrets?
One day will they have dreams?
One day when they don't need us
Will we be obsolete?

What if we lose control?
What if we have do what we're told?
It's not up to you and I
Cause In the end they'll never die

(Human neutralized)

Preoccupied with whether or not they could
They didn't stop to think if they should

What if we lose control?
What if we have do what we're told?
It's not up to you and I
Cause In the end they'll never die

What if we lose control? (Ooh ooh lose control)
It's not up to you and I
Cause in the end they'll never die
