

Out of the Blue

Vertical Horizon

Darkness fades to blue
And daybreak breaks through
Lights give way to life
As we all give way to time

Oh I hate walking here alone
And I'm holding onto stones
You're everywhere even when, you're gone
You're everywhere even when, you're gone

The current flows through my veins
And the bliss almost hides the pain
The words flow so free in my mind
But I never, no I never find the right time

And I whisper nothing of this
And I withhold the truth from my lips
And you listen even when you don't Yeah you listen even when you don't

Out of the dark, into the blue
Out of my head, over you
Into the light, into the sun
Staring at you, out of the blue

The fires begin to fade
The smoke just floats away
And sometimes it seems the will is gone
Oh the love, love is strong

Out of the dark, into the blue
Out of my head, over you
Into the light, into the sun
Staring at you, out of the blue

Out of the dark, into the blue
Out of my head, over you
Into the light, into the sun
Staring at you, out of the blue

Into the light, into the sun
Staring at you, out of the blue
