Don't you dare

Don't you dare to touch me!

Thoughts once enshrined And visions entwined Around each step that I take I challenge thee! It takes a time to see from the other side Of the looking glass Fearless Reflections contorted Crippled age of reason A play of blind With no spectators Dominion of hope Is what feeds dissolution Of this life you've been given "These are the product of those ill-mated marriages thou saw'st Where good with evil were matched, who of themselves abhor to join And by imprudence mixed Produce prodigious births of body and mind" Ye who preach Who proclaim the sermons Of the ones not fallen from grace And disorder of light that you belong to Don't you dare Don't you dare to touch me! Awe! Can't you see you're all pregnant With infernal flame?! Awe! Why don't you all believe You've been deceived about your disgrace Awe! There is much more to see if you deny your profound fears Don't look for solace Angels are envious of what you have Reflections contorted Stir up the rage of reason A play of blind fools Spectators on their knees Dominion of hope Is what feeds dissolution Of this life you've been given

Gather back sharp splinters of your resemblance And now, what would you go for? To flash once and burn down Or to stay inflamed without the end