

Faint Praise

Vetiver

All alone, you prefer it that way
Quiet I know, heading to stay
The errant charm soon comes out now
Nowhere to hide and you'll never be the only one
What once felt right, twice comes forward
The rarest sight now all eyes glued onward
Time wants to share what it seems you're only
The one to care and you'll never be the only one
Don't let their smiles bring you down
Faint praise is all they have found
For you now
The camera's glare captures it all
But the blank of your stare
And more than blew all
You miss the days when no one would call
Here they come and you'll never be the only one
Oh here they come you'll never be the only one