

A New Beginning

Victory

If I told you that I'd never forget
Then I'd forgive and then just leave it at that I would, yeah I would
This could be the start of something new
A new beginning with or without you
Yeah I would if I could

But I'm begging to begin again
On somewhere new where I can call my own
But to start again might be hell at best
But hell looks good from where I'm standing down here

You hear myself you know we never agree
You know me better than I wish I knew me
Yeah you would if you could
But if these pages were to be in a book
You'd be the hero and then I'd be the crook
Yeah you know I would if I knew I could.

But I'm begging to begin again
On somewhere new where I can call my own
But to start again might be hell at best
But hell looks good from where I'm standing down here

Truth be told we never had a chance
But I'm so far away

But I'm begging to begin again
On somewhere new where I can call my own
But to start again might be hell at best
But hell looks good from where I'm standing down here
