

A Life Worth Living

Villain of the Story

Hold out your hand to the ones
That can't stand alone
When they fall, we'll pick them up
There's not a single person that's not worth saving
All the greed, all of the lies and the selfishness
What happened to truth and respect?
There's nothing wrong with the world that we live in
But there's so many misguided souls

Even in the darkest days
There are so many ways to see the light
And make things right again

So many people die every day and for what?
For money and vengeance?
I'm telling you, this can't be right
Together we will fight for the place that we call home
Imagine what could happen if we all just stand together
With open arms and open hearts

Even in the darkest days
There are so many ways to see the light
And make things right again
Everyone should be loved
No matter who you are
Everyone should be given a chance
No one is useless
No one is useless

We just need a little faith
We need to believe we can save them all
We just need a little faith
We need to believe we can save them all
In a life worth living
There's a world worth fighting for

Everyone should be loved
Everyone should be loved

Even in the darkest days
There are so many ways to see the light
And make things right again
Everyone should be loved
No matter who you are
Everyone should be given a chance
No one is useless
No one is useless
