

Two Minds in One

Villain of the Story

Look what we've become
A force of nature
Pools of blood are left everywhere
You can try to run but you crave the feeling
Nothing compares to the power when you stare
Into their lifeless eyes
The fear felt in their final breath (final breath)
Don't try to pull away and forget what we are
You know what we've done
There's so much yet to come
Don't run

I know it hurts
But you were never meant to escape
Find peace in death
In death
Find peace in death

This can't be happening
You've taken everything
No more
No more
You've taken everything

Two minds in one
If you want me gone
Grab the knife and cut me out

You coward
Come forward
Embrace the things we've done
You love it
You crave it
I'm not the only one
Begging for mercy when you're the one in the driver's seat
Pretending to never see the reality that you are me
I'm not the one in control it was always you

I know it hurts
But you were never meant to escape
Find peace in death
In death
Find peace in death

Don't try to pull away and forget what we are
You know what we've done
You know what we've done

Find
Peace
In
Death
