

You Should Know

Vin Jay

Yeah

Welcome to the take over!

For those trying to stop me

I would like you to please consider the following

You should know, that I don't ever stop to second guess it
You should know, that y'all are in the presence of a legend
You should know, that I've been busy counting all my blessings
You should know, you're dealing with a boss now, darling
You should know, that I don't ever stop to second guess it
You should know, that y'all are in the presence of a legend
You should know, that I've been busy counting all my blessings
You should know, you're dealing with a boss now, darling
You should know!

Been about rap, but you want to be the boss, then you got to learn the business too

Cause you could get a plaque, but it won't pay back with no motherfuckin' interest, ooh

Y'all would rather flex, I would rather work

I just do my best

Haters do you worst

Y'all have been a mess

Truly goin' berserk

Hope you get better, but I'm really not concerned

Know that I'mma be okay, I don't really feel no shame

Y'all better get ghost, I'm about seal your fate

Tell 'em on real locate, y'all better be toast

Still they wanna underestimate

Y'all ain't qualified to judge me anyway

Probably wouldn't even touch your resumé

Rather put your knife to your tongue and separate

Still they tryin' to give bad advice

Like goin' viral won't happen twice

But it's crystal clear what I did this year

And my biggest fear's living an average life

Got a sound that you can't provide

Came up the new trash to climb

Living proof that true rap survived

Study my shit if you watchin'

You should know, that I don't ever stop to second guess it
You should know, that y'all are in the presence of a legend
You should know, that I've been busy counting all my blessings
You should know, you're dealing with a boss now, darling
You should know, that I don't ever stop to second guess it
You should know, that y'all are in the presence of a legend
You should know, that I've been busy counting all my blessings
You should know, you're dealing with a boss now, darling
You should know!

Everybody looking at me like they ever knew I had it in me, but I took over the city with a wicked flow

Used to never think that I would make it but I kept on moving now I'm fillin'g every venue when I hit the road

I don't let all of the negative get to me but I found out other tools I need to build with, when I was in the low

Did the dirt, invested in what I'm worth, went from working for managers that I hate to the CEO
They been looking for a cheat code
Let me put a little bit of game on the beat quick
If you wait round for someone to help out
I'll get you a cheat code, you will never be shit!
Not paid up homie, but I'm paid some
That don't really mean much
Who I need to impress?
Got the same clothes, same whip
Same shoes, same girl fucking back stage in a sun dress
Ay, what I think you should know
Making it here is still highly unusual
Most that ya' here is the product of fear and obsession and need to escape the delusional
Whether I'm winnin' or losin' I know that a diamond has the whole game
If you wanna make it with people like me and Vin Jay in this music you must be insane!

You should know, that I don't ever stop to second guess it
You should know, that y'all are in the presence of a legend
You should know, that I've been busy counting all my blessings
You should know, you're dealing with a boss now, darling
You should know, that I don't ever stop to second guess it
You should know, that y'all are in the presence of a legend
You should know, that I've been busy counting all my blessings
You should know, you're dealing with a boss now, darling
You should know!