

The fires have began
Devastating consequences for a long unnecessary war
Could you spare me your flames?
We cannot deal with this shit
We cannot live with that!
In illusions that you create...

I suggest it because I don't want to bite!
You are weak in your vices if you are to survive
For everyone who wears a robe of state
There is a limit for how much I can tolerate

No matter how far we are standing
On different sides of a line
We have become so undemanding
We switch off and no longer try

Anything I can get
Everything not sold yet
And no one wonders what we want
And no one going to stand in front!

So you feel power dancing with the cowards
Your sloppy dance
Your lunar trance
You can't squeeze love from hateful action

I suggest it because if this cold continues
You will lose still promising
Doing this with no excuse
Invisible enemies & total wars
The bills must be paid
Before you close the door
No!

No matter how far we are standing
On different sides of a line
We have become so undemanding
We switch off and no longer try
