Distant Shores

Visions of Atlantis

have you forgotten your promise that night
Follow your fate into the light

The moments before you went away
I still remember your laughter
My eyes open wide shocked of what I wasn't able to avoid
All the gone they wait for me
They wait on distant shores
Death's the gate and I'm the key
With craving's driving force

All the gone they're calling me
They call from distant shores
I leave without remorse

Pass all these days pass all my longing
I draw the line.
To end what should have been done so long ago.
My fading memories force me to go
Where my feelings can resist

I'm on my way
On my way to you
I can't wait to Have you all around

I'm on my way
On my way to you
What was torn
Is now rebound
