

You feel it in your soul
You said that you want it but have to let go
You're losin' more than you know
Chasing a feeling that you'll never show

Solving problems with you
Now I got them on the only road you know
You feel it, but you're letting me go
Will it ever come together?
Guess I'll never know

I'm running, I'm running, I'm running
I'm running, I'm running, I'm running

You're right there, as if it's gone
If we can't keep it together, we're better alone
I'm feeling all these things that you've done
And I'm asking myself, "Were we ever in love?"

Solving problems with you
Now I got them on the only road you know
You feel it, but you're letting me go
And if it ever comes together, guess I'll never know

I'm running, I'm running, I'm running
I'm running, I'm running, I'm running

Your soul needs a little headspace
Your soul needs a little headspace

You feel it in your soul
You said that you want it, but have to let go
You lose it, more than you know
Chasing a feeling that you'll never show

I'm running, I'm running, I'm running
I'm running, I'm running, I'm running

Your soul needs a little headspace
Your soul needs a little headspace

You feel it, but you're letting me go
Need a little headspace

You feel it, but you're letting me go
Need a little headspace