

Remember when I met her that day in November
It feels like a lifetime, and nothing at the same time
You were in my daydreams even when the days seemed Like I was never gonna win, or get any of the little things tha t mean a lot

When did it become so complicated
I hate it
Is it easier when you think you've finally made it
I made it with you

I've got high hopes, I've got high hopes
I've got higher hopes than I ever did before
As November turns December
You remember, that you need each other more

Path of least resistance coping with the distance
But even when I go away, I'm never really far away
Look into the future, I try to show it to her
If you wait a little longer you won't ever need to wonder anymo re

When did it become so complicated
I hate it
Is it easier when you think you've finally made it
I made it with you

I've got high hopes, I've got high hopes
I've got higher hopes than I ever did before
As November turns December
You remember, that you need each other more

I've got high hopes, I've got high hopes
I've got higher hopes than I ever did before
As November turns December
You remember, that you need each other more
I've got high hopes, I've got high hopes
I've got higher hopes than I ever did before
As November turns December
You remember, that you need each other more
...