

Sleeping With The Light On

Vistas

The things you can't replace
I'll always find a trace of you
In empty picture frames
Lost in the tidal wave of youth
It's 2AM again
I don't wanna erase your face
Give me an ounce of pain
And all the darkness I can take

So tell me what's wrong
Tell me how I should feel
So tell me what's wrong

Now I'm sleeping with the light on
Thinking how to put a smile on
Did you mean it when you said
Did you mean it when you said
Time will be your friend

The caustic burn of fate
A lonely soul caught in the fray
Reach out for the embrace
And touch your skin against the flame
We all return to dust
And hopefully we all find peace
So take the leap and trust
That you are where you're meant to be

So tell me what's wrong
Tell me how I should feel
So tell me what's wrong

Now I'm sleeping with the light on
Thinking how to put a smile on
Did you mean it when you said
Did you mean it when you said
Time will be your friend

So show me where the line's drawn
The bleeding cry until the night's gone
Did you mean it when you said
Did you mean it when you said
Time will be your friend
(Will be your friend...)
