The highway's leading me the wrong direction
The silhouettes are dragging me down the road
The question is, where I am going?
Better fighting now than never knowing

I can't wait another day for love
'Cause I keep on growing when you're standing still
I can't wait another day for love
'Cause I keep on growing when you're standing still

The bruises fade but I keep hurting
Feet are on the ground but I'm still falling

I can't wait another day for love
'Cause I keep on growing when you're standing still
I can't wait another day for love
'Cause I keep on growing when you're standing still

Can't wait another, can't wait another day
'Cause I keep on growing when you're standing still
