

Internet master race, let's fucking get this straight Turn off your upper case, say this to my face Well sure it's healthy that you're unable to express your anger through physical violence
But you'll find that manifestation of said emotions just doesn' t cut it when spoken through silence You're just a loser abusing what you can't afford to lose

So put your money where your mouth is, tell me how does it taste?
Those words just don't mean shit if you can't say them to my face You're self-conceited, self-inflated
With a contradictory point of view Well you're still seated and I can't believe it, how much you're bending the truth
You're just a loser abusing what you can't afford to lose Back up those pretentious words, because no-one seems to have heard To practice what you preach is to first have learnt how to speak