

Oblivion

I feel it passing through the ports in my wrist
With a glimpse, this sinking feeling one day I'll be missed
So tell me why is this so easy for me to all comprehend?
It's the beginning of the end
You won't believe what happens next...

So tell me how will it feel
The day I won't forget?
Since it's been in my head this sound is deafening
So tell me how will it feel
The day you can't forgive?
Will I just hold this in and destroy everything?

As everything's collapsing
I'm breaking through the static
All I can see is red but I'll keep screaming 'til I'm fucking dead

Until the day I'm dead

So tell me how will it feel
The day I won't forget?
Since it's been in my head this sound is deafening
So tell me how will it feel
The day you can't forgive?
Will I just hold this in and destroy everything?

Well is there really more than this?
What if I just can't hold it in?
I might push you away
I might forget your face
I might forget how to breathe
I might destroy everything

Oblivion
I might destroy everything