

Between The Sleepers

Volturian

I still remember the last day of spring
I can still feel your breath over my face
And then in September
The last days of leaves
I hoped for the rain
The sky sent me shivering stars
On my head
And still water in my heart
I fell in a moment
That looked so tight
I was too young or maybe too blind
To welcome her grace
But still I'm regretting her light

Every night I'm dreaming
Of the ones I left away
Stuck between the sleepers
I'll find you on the way
Every night I'm dreaming
Of the ones I left away
We'll break new ground
When the stars begin to stray

All things I've lost
And never will find again
Are still close to my heart and my mind
I learned to see the world
Through your eyes
Holding your hands
I'll teach you again to remind

Every night I'm dreaming
Of the ones I left away
Stuck between the sleepers
I'll find you on the way
Every night I'm dreaming
Of the ones I left away
We'll break new ground
When the stars begin to stray

So come around
And be again the one
That makes me drown
As now you're everything I need
To stars back to breathe

Every night I'm dreaming
Of the ones I left away
Stuck between the sleepers
I'll find you on the way
We'll break new ground
