

Forevermore

Volturian

A thousand years away we stand
You know time and space
Can make a river bend
Between the stars
We left our memories
Will be carried by the way
Just like the past

So deep
Where night and sleep surrender
Still lives
Don't even dreams are endless

Rising up from the dark
We'll sing forevermore
Holding the flame up to bring
A light along
Only one step away from the limit
Close enough to follow the trees
It's never over if we're still the same
Maybe you will understand

Through the tears we'll fight away
We'll build stairs to the moon, no turning back
Beneath the empty sky we'll gaze
At the remains we left behind
Into the sand

So deep
Where night and sleep surrender
I'll seal
Your name to be remembered

Rising up from the dark
We'll sing forevermore
Holding the flame up to bring
A light along
Only one step away from the limit
Close enough to follow the trees
It's never over if we're still the same
Maybe you will understand

Rising up from the dark
We'll sing forevermore
Holding the flame up to bring
A light along
Only one step away from the limit
Close enough to follow the trees
It's never over if we're still the same
Maybe you will understand
