Volturian

It starts with one more day
I'm tearing up your faces off the wall right where
Your self-possession painted them before
I craved for your approval like it was some gold ashamed
Every time you denied

Bite me, I won't cry
If you stand by my side, I swear my lord
Your eyes will be my guide
As your words made me blind
All this no more

It's time to let it go
To wash the past away
To find the will inside
To create my own way
To make up for your lies
And live another day
So I can learn to be alone

It took me more than days
To realize what you made to me, you know
Back then I was not able to see your games
More than lovers, hunter and his prey
A chance for me to learn how to beg

Bite me, I won't lie
It hurts just on the inside
I swear my lord
Night and day I cried
To be what you despised
Killed me some more and more

It's time to let it go
To wash the past away
To find the will inside
To create my own way
To make up for your lies
And live another day
So I can learn to be alone

Bite me, I won't lie
It hurts just on the inside
I swear my lord
Night and day I cried
To be what you despised
Killed me some more and more

It's time to let it go
To wash the past away
To find the will inside
To create my own way
To make up for your lies
And live another day
So I can learn to be alone
