

Mangled And Maimed

Vulvodynia

A sacrilegious fire

Ah, your sins have sealed your fate
Drown while your parents watch in false love and praise
You all know you've made mistakes, your sins have sealed your fate
Their dogma like a fortress, their words a deadly trail
Ethnocentric disease they've come to hail
They were not born to see, their eyes gone

Consumed at birth
Doctrine has raped their minds, their ideals are fantasy
Mangled and maimed, the tears of those devoted runneth dry
Flee this begotten world

Infinite casualties
Feeding this travesty has become normality
Heresy, zealotry
Their eyes aflame with the judgment of God
Countless fatalities, scriptures of fallacies
Will give birth to blasphemy
Tragedy, foolish humanity tearing the whole world apart

Their forced conversion, a sin left unchecked
Cultural erasure, a vile and bitter taste
A tyrannical reign of intolerance they claim is the holy way
Leaving a chasm of hate gaping in its wake

And now the masses, they flee from this world
Consumed with hatred and despair, their casualties
They rise in number
This ancient paradox, unknown to those who worship blindly
Feed on the Earth
Their Mecca built of flesh must now
Burn, burn, burn, burn, burn, burn, burn, burn, burn
Yearning for your desires

A sacrilegious fire

Ah, your sins have sealed your fate
Let us rise as heretics
Burn their tomes to ashes
Let us rise as heretics
No salvation in sight
They were not born to see, their eyes gone

Consumed at birth
Doctrine has raped their minds, their ideals are fantasy
Mangled and maimed, the tears of those devoted runneth dry
Flee this begotten world