

Fractured

VV Brown

I never really felt that I
Would ever fit inside your circle
Every time I try and try
I never really bask in virtue

Calling, calling, calling it all
Fighting and fighting
Talk, talk about it all
I want to

Go back to another life
A light has fully been fractured
The slave to the open lights
The light has now been fractured

Travel on your way
The words don't mention place
Go back to another life
The light has fully been fractured

They never really let me in
And wait before the chance to show it
I took a chance and I dug deep
Searching for the truthful purpose

Calling, calling, calling it all
Fighting and fighting
Talk, talk about it all
I want to

Go back to another life
A light has fully been fractured
The slave to the open lights
The light has now been fractured

Travel on your way
The words don't mention place
Go back to another life
The light has fully been fractured

Go back to another life
A light has fully been fractured
The slave to the open lights
The light has now been fractured

Travel on your way
The words don't mention place
Go back to another life
The light has fully been fractured
