

Nothing Really Matters

VV Brown

I keep my head on the ground
There are people all around
In my brain I hold my head high
We are strangers in the night

I don't really know
But I wish that I could feel
Your hand on my breast

Nothing really matters
Cause I know that there is more than what you say
Nothing really matters
Cause I hold myself to blame for what you did

We are chasing all around
We are built on solid ground, oh
Keep your eyes on what you feel
There's something when I'm near you
So we sit on holy ground

Wish that I could feel your Spirit like a ghost
Only I know
Doesn't matter anymore
It doesn't matter anymore, no, no

Nothing really matters
Cause I know that there is more than what you say
Nothing really matters
Cause I hold myself to blame for what you did

Trying to make you down it all
Into a million pieces around
I don't know, this is what you desire
What I want of you
Is to be right to you

Nothing really matters
Cause I know that there is more than what you say
Nothing really matters
Cause I hold myself to blame for what you did

My place, in my heart (to me)
My place, in my heart (to me)
My place, in my heart (to me)
My place, in my heart (to me)...

Nothing really matters

Nothing really matters
Cause I know that there is more than what you say
Nothing really matters
Cause I hold myself to blame for what you did

To me
To me
To me

To me...

(Nothing, nothing, nothing, nothing...)