

Be You

Wade Bowen

Minutes tick tock their way through the day
Like waiting on a train to come
You can't see the forest for the trees
And nobody's dropping you crumbs
There's light where you choose to find it
And choices you can't undo

So beware, be wise, be safe, be kind
Be brave, be love, be you

You know that voice inside your head
That's the sound of the human heart
You hear it as you climb in bed
And when times are getting hard
Through all the fear and doubt
Listen close, it knows a thing or two

And beware, be wise, be safe, be kind
Be brave, be love, be you

Be smart enough to know when you can't do it by yourself
Be the journey, be the adventure
Be the light for someone else

You're gonna skin your knuckles and scrape your knees
There ain't no way around it
Being alive is hard on a person
Just try to leave things better than you found it
When somebody tries to knock you down
Just remember the golden rule

And beware, be wise, be safe, be kind
Be brave, be love, be you
Yeah beware, be wise, be safe, be kind
Be brave, be love, be you
Oh beware, be wise, be safe, be kind
Be brave, be love, be you
