

Turn On The Lights

Wade Bowen

It's not easy anymore, everything seemed to change
In one blink of an eye, I'm the man to lay the blame
I let you slip away, tried so hard to make this right
I have nothing left to do, nowhere else to turn
And I know it's dark babe
Please turn on the lights
Let me see you crying
You're not here alone
I'm in here with you trying
I wanna see the truth
And find the broken pieces
We can make it right but you have, you have to
Turn on the lights

We can step into the sun, kiss the night good bye
Those things that hold you down cut 'em loose and fly
So keep reaching for my hand, I'll be hard for you to see
The shadows fill the room, baby I won't let you go

And I know it's dark babe
Please turn on the lights
Let me see you crying
You're not here alone
I'm in here with you trying
I wanna see the truth and find the broken pieces
We can make it right but you have to, you have to turn on the lights

Please don't be afraid, girl it's only me
Yea, I am here to help you

Turn on the lights
Let me see you crying
You're not here alone
I'm in here with you trying
I wanna see the truth and find the broken pieces
We can make it right but you have to, you have to turn on the lights
