

How To Lose A Friend

Wafia

Last summer feels like a lifetime ago
Still miss you sometimes but you'll never know
I wanna, call you but I'm, not gonna
Just heard a song that I thought you would like
I'm losing track of, all of the times
I wanna, call you but I'm, not gonna

Nobody tells you how it's supposed to end
How do you go from talking every day, to will we ever speak again?
With someone you know so well, so well
Still exists but it's somebody else, and
Nobody tells you how it's supposed to end
How to lose a friend

Now we're strangers
With the same memories, I remember
This past New Year's Eve, we were lying in your bed
Talking 'bout our dreams
And I thought that was the way it was always gonna be
Can't even tell you I don't like your boyfriend
You haven't been you since you met him
Probably know that you don't have my blessing
I guess I won't be invited to the wedding

Nobody tells you how it's supposed to end
How do you go from talking every day, to will we ever speak again?
With someone you know so well, so well
Still exists but it's somebody else, and
Nobody tells you how it's supposed to end

How to lose a friend
I still miss you, I still miss you
How to lose a friend
I still miss you, I still miss you
How to lose a friend
I still miss you, I still miss you
How to lose a friend

Nobody tells you how it's supposed to end
How do you go from talking every day, to will we ever speak again?
With someone you know so well, so well
Still exists but it's somebody else, and
Nobody tells you how it's supposed to end
How to lose a friend
