The Ending

Wafia

You didn't run away when you should've
Caught up in the day, you mistook the
Voices you heard for your friends
We all get hurt by the ending

I didn't make you stay when I should've
We let the flicker fade when we could've
Held the whole world in our hands
Leave what we were where we standing

Oh God
Oh God

You know it's never one or the other
I'm never feeling fine while you suffer
We were never built to forget
Doesn't mean you still can resent me

Always on a course of collision
The road between relapse and remission
Something we can't comprehend
We still both care but we're bending

Oh God
Oh God
Oh God
Oh God

They don't understand what we're missing
Talking but they don't wanna listen
Maybe they don't wanna know
Where there's a good chance they're going

Falling out of place, what's the difference?
They putting on a face, won't admit it
We already know how it ends
But everybody stuck in pretending

Oh God
Oh God
Oh God
Oh God

Oh God
Oh God
Oh God
Oh God

You didn't run away when you should've
Caught up in the day, you mistook the
Voices you heard for your friends
We all get hurt by the ending
