

The Line

Wage War

Where do we draw the line?

Closed in, learning how to cope with
The fear of knowing
That we're afraid to change

Roped in, fraying like a loose end
And still we pretend
That we can bear the weight

We're perfect on the outside
Broken on the inside
But you don't know
'Cause we don't show
The skeletons that we hide
Misery in our eyes
But you don't know
'Cause we don't show
We're running out of time
Where do we draw the line?

Hold in, never show emotion
Afraid to open
The truth we've locked away
It's a cycle we're repeating
But survival isn't bleeding

We're perfect on the outside
Broken on the inside
But you don't know
'Cause we don't show
The skeletons that we hide
Misery in our eyes
But you don't know
'Cause we don't show
We're running out of time
Where do we draw the line?

We're perfect on the outside
Broken on the inside
But you don't know
'Cause we don't show
The skeletons that we hide
Misery in our eyes
But you don't know
'Cause we don't show

We're perfect on the outside
Broken on the inside
But you don't know
'Cause we don't show
The skeletons that we hide
Misery in our eyes
But you don't know
'Cause we don't show
We're running out of time
It's our fate to decide

We'll draw the line

We'll draw the line