

Only Ecstasy

Wallows

You are my only ecstasy
You are my only ecstasy

Shirtless in your garden, the sun was shining in your eyes
I looked around the golden brown and found the thin green lines
You ran to pick me flowers, and you brought them up to me
Engraved that day and smile you gave into my memory

You are my only ecstasy
You are the only one for me

Don't apologize for crying, I will always hold you space
Beyond your fallen tears, I can see generations in your face
I see the eyes of unborn daughters, I see you on our deathbed too
Not long before or after me 'cause I don't want to outlive you
It's true because

You are my only ecstasy
You are the only one for me
Feeling like the time is through of acting like we never knew
And you are my only ecstasy

So take all of my devotion
I've walked across an empty ocean to find it all, though fragmented
Now I can see it all through your eyes

You are my only ecstasy
You are the only one for me
You are my only ecstasy
You are my only ecstasy
