

Your Apartment

Wallows

We don't need a repeat of the night when
You called me over to your apartment
Should we get close? Should we put the lights down?
It was never right, I think you know now
There's a lot of things that I could tell you
But some things are left better if you never knew
So I shut myself up with a night cap
I'm not tempted, I just don't like that

Old wounds seem to open up with you
What am I supposed to do?
I don't need to walk you through it

Who said I don't understand
Or that I probably won't remember
Time in the palm of your hand
We both let go together
But I promise, I get your sentiment
I wonder who's been at your apartment
Would you give in, or would you relent?
Who's been tryin' to get in your bed?

Empathetic to you and your healing
Ask a friend if you still don't believe me
I've got stitches that I'm sewin' up too
So, it isn't fair to say, "I love you"
Let's think before we go and hit send
You're cryin' to me on the phone again
I think this conversation needs to end
Remember you're not the only one in this
I wanna speak but you won't even talk to me
Not until you'd like to see, all the things we could be

And incentivize
Things that you internalized
I'd rather tell you a lie
Before predicting what I don't know, could lead into false hope

Who said I don't understand or that
I probably won't remember
Time in the palm of your hand
We both let go together
But I promise, I get your sentiment
I wonder who's been at your apartment
Would you give in, or would you relent?
Who's been tryin' to get their signal sent?
I promise, I get your sentiment
I wonder who's been at your apartment
I promise, I get your sentiment
I wonder who's been at your apartment
