

Hurt Again

Walter Egan

So help me, you know I never would lie
I've bled and I've kept up
I always try

Somehow it matters
Concerning my pride
All of my best hopes have died

Hurt again, hurt again
Will I ever lose the pain?
Can't believe it won't end
I'm always hurt again

Sometimes I feel like
It could be romance
Swallow your fear, now
Just take a chance

Well, am I a victim
Of my circumstance?
When love just slips through my hands

Hurt again, hurt again
Will I ever lose the pain?

Can't believe it won't end
I'm always hurt again

But if I could leave today
Surrender to the pain
Could I just forget and not regret?
Just to see your face again

Well I am a ship that has torn all its sails
And set adrift on the winds of a gale
Oh and I'm afraid as the wind starts to wail
I need some help to prevail

Hurt again, hurt again
Will I ever lose the pain?
Can't believe it won't end
Well I'm always hurt
I'm always hurt
I'm always hurt... again
