

Two Hands

Wanda Jackson

Well I got two hands
I'm gonna clap my hands together
I got two legs
I'm gonna dance to heaven's door
I got one heart
Gonna fill it up with Jesus
And I ain't gonna think about trouble anymore

Well now this whole world from confidence get lonesome
And it's many grown men who's hung his head and cried
But down in your soul there's one that won't desert you
And it's time to have a savior by your side

Cause I got two hands
I'm gonna clap my hands together
I got two legs
I'm gonna dance to heaven's door
I got one heart
Gonna fill it up with Jesus
And I ain't gonna think about trouble anymore

Now the Lord resides in our house of gold
And faith is the door, love is the key
And warm is the light pourin from His mighty windows
And the light my friend, it shines on you and me

Yea I got two hands
I'm gonna clap my hands together
I got two legs
I'm gonna dance to heaven's door
I got one heart
Gonna fill it up with Jesus
And I ain't gonna think about trouble anymore

When the wind blows home that faith for mourning
And I close my eyes, Lord, You fly my body home
I don't want my friends to cry no tears about me
I'll be bathing in the glory of the throne

Well I got two hands
I'm gonna clap my hands together
I got two legs
I'm gonna dance to heaven's door
I got one heart
Gonna fill it up with Jesus
And I ain't gonna think about trouble anymore

No, I ain't gonna think about trouble anymore
