

I Think I Hate You

Ward Thomas

I see you across the room and my heart's racing
Drunk on the feeling that I always get
A fire between us and I can't quite name it
Falling into something and it feels so true

I think I hate you
If we never met again
It would be too soon
You can try to play pretend
But I see through you
I do, I do
I think I hate you
Hate you

You're one of a kind and you always amaze me
I kill you with kindness but you're dead inside
You're running around, kicking us down, everyone's enemy
Try to bite my tongue until my lips turn blue

I think I hate you
If we never met again
It would be too soon
You can try to play pretend
But I see through you
I do, I do
I think I hate you
Hate you

I hope someday when you're asleep
I will show up in your dreams
Haunting you good, missing what could have been
I hope someday you buy a mirror
So you see what I see
How badly you fucked it
I bet someday you burn so many bridges everyone leaves
You're all alone, thinking you might have been wrong
I hope someday you see the harm you caused and restore the peace
Until then

I think I hate you
If we never met again
It would be too soon
You can try to play pretend
But I see through you
I do, I do
I think I hate you
Hate you

I think I hate you
If we never met again
It would be too soon
You can try to play pretend
But I see through you
I do, I do
I think I hate you
Hate you

I think I hate you
Hate you
I think I hate you
I think I hate you
Hate you
I think I hate you
Oh wait, I know I do